

Kent County Master Gardener Summer 2022 Workshops

ADAPTING YOUR DELAWARE GARDEN TO CLIMATE CHANGE
Tuesday, August 23, 2022
10:00 – 11:00 AM EDT
FREE – online only via ZOOM
Debbie Nicol
Kent County Master Gardener

They say change is good. But when change happens too quickly, it's hard for nature to adapt. What can you do in your home garden to help your plants survive for present and future generations in the face of climate change? Change can be managed when you rethink your traditional gardening habits to make an impact on both your own small world and our planet.

Erica Carson, Kent County Master Gardener

Learn how to make your own mini terrarium! In this workshop, you will learn the basics of how to select plants, design, and create your own miniature terrarium to take home, as well as how to maintain it. You will learn how to create a false bottom in a planting container, which is a useful technique for many types of planting situations, from potted plants to aquariums. All materials will be supplied as part of the class fee.

Registered participants will receive a reminder by email prior to the workshop. You must register at least 24 hours before the workshop start date and time.
